Nancy Wynne Talks of Weddings and Debuts to Take Place in the Fall—Hobbs-Newlin Marriage Latter Part of September

WOULD you believe that only ten days more will pass before September 1, when some of the Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut (Oh, I forgot Massachusetts) resortists will be coming homeward. Three or four more weeks and they will all be home, back in their suburban homes, at least, if not horse show in Bryn Mawr and the coming-out teas and weddings, and everything, and the season will be in full swing before you can say Jack Robinson.

EDITH NEWLIN will be a September bride. The wedding is scheduled for September 25, under the stand. Edith is going to marry Marland Hobbs, of Boston. In my memory serves me correctly, Edith was the first of the season to announce her engagement. She is the daughter of the Dick Newlins, who live at Whitford, which is beyond Fraser on the Main. Her grandmother was Miss Edith Eisenbrey, of this city, a sister of Howard Eisenbrey and the late Kenton Eisenbrey, who married Miss Fanny Baird.

REBEKAH Hobbs, a sister of Marland, is to be maid of honor at the wedding, and Alice and Margaret Newlin, sisters of Edith, together with Mary Crisco, who, by the way, I hear is to come out this next season, but I am not sure (one hears a n). Eleanor Hobbs will be another bridesmaid, and Agnes Gross, of Bethlehem, and Marguerite Lord, of New York. Margaret Lord is Edith's cousin, and Mrs. Roland Morris Baker, also of Boston, will complete the bridesmaids. Franklin Hobbs, Jr., a brother of Marland, is the best man.

EDITH is up at Marion, Mass., at present, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs at their summer home. She will return to the city in the month, and the invitations will go out soon after the first of September.

PEAKING of Mary Grisco, she is the daughter of Mr. Rodman Grisco, of Haverford, you know. Mary was to have made her debut last year, but her mother's death put that out of the question. I heard several girls talking together the other day, and they were saying that Mary would come out this year, but I have not heard it from Mary herself. She is still up in Watch Hill, where her father has a summer home. Her grandmother, Mrs. Clement Grisco, and her aunt, Frances, go to Watch Hill every summer also.

SAW Mrs. Charles E. Cox in town Saturday wearing a very good-looking hat of sporty and light blue. Her hat was a round sailor shape of dark brown, fine straw. The crown was bare, but the upper brim was entirely covered with the hands of curly hair. The costume was very becoming, as Mrs. Cox's eyes are brown. Her daughter, Jane Gordon Cox, will be a debutante of this season, and Mr. and Mrs. Cox will give a ball for her in December. They gave a dance at their place at Malvern on July 3, you remember.

JANE is a very attractive girl. She has been in Virginia at school during the past two winters. Her brother, Eckley Cox, 3d, married Mary Owens, of Georgia, about a year ago.

KATHARINE TENNEY'S engagement, which was announced Saturday, is an interesting one. Katharine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tenney, of Haverford. She is engaged to Harry Edson, who lives in Haverford. He is a lawyer and has one or two children. His first wife was Bessie Megary, a sister of Mrs. Barry Colahan, Mrs. Elliot Newlin and Mrs. Charles Stanley, who was Anne Megary. Mrs. Edson died about two years ago. Katharine Tenney is an awfully nice girl. She is a great friend of the Illies and of the Carls Patterson and Mrs. Ralph Earle. All these girls came out about the same time, and have kept up a strong and lasting friendship.

The wedding will be in the near future, though the date has not yet been told generally.

NANCY WYNNE. Miss Sydney Biddle, Miss Marguerite I. Osborn and Miss Mary Hoppin Howland, will be next season's debutantes, will be the guests of honor at a dinner dance, to be given by Mrs. Charles Biddle, of Andalusia, on Tuesday, September 1.

Mrs. Alexander Biddle, of Brynholm, returned from the week from a visit of some weeks at Newport. Mrs. Lewis Rodman Thibault, of St. Denis, with her two children, are the guest of Mrs. Francis Green at Haddon Hall, Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cromwell Bell, Jr., of Hightstown, Radnor, are spending the remainder of the summer at Eaglesmere.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Scattergood, of Dundale, Villanova, who are spending the summer in New Hampshire, are expected to return to their home September 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard T. Beale, of Cambria Court, St. Davids, are on a

Stuart Discusses Women and the Vote

"I do not mean to say that this will be universal, nor can it be said to be of evil tendency. There are a great many women who have been keeping faithfully a touch with the issues, and problems of the country for a number of years and who are as well informed, and will vote as intelligently as, if not more intelligently than, the men. And even considering the women who do not possess that thorough knowledge, I cannot see that the advice or influence given them by their husbands can be for anything but good."

"Women More Conscientious" "There is one respect in which I believe women will rise superior to their husbands, fathers and sons, I refer to their faithfulness in registering and casting their votes. In recent years, especially, a great class has risen, and I have been sorry to note its growth, composed of men who are either too lazy or too indifferent even to take the trouble to cast their ballots."

"Such men have said to me, 'I do not like so-an-so feature of our government' or 'I think that in this respect our republican form of government has proved a failure.' I always tell them that they have no right whatsoever to complain since they have not had the spirit or ambition to cast their own votes, because it is a proved maxim that 'a country can always get just what it wants, if it tries, and if it does not try, it gets what it deserves.'"

"Women, I believe, will vote. That is, the proportion of them who will vote use their suffrage privileges at all will use them faithfully. There will be a large number to whom the granting of woman suffrage will mean absolutely nothing. The others will not prove slackers, and especially at first, when the novelty of the thing cannot help but have an appeal, will register and vote regularly and constantly."

"Suffrage will not, as they say, 'unsex' woman. The masculine, blatant type has already come to stay, vote or no vote, but the mere fact that all women can go to the polls will not mean that they will be any less womanly. Most of them will go to the polling places, cast their votes, and return home. It will be as much a duty as any other part of their lives and will mean to them only what it means to men. The proportion of men who hang around the polls and engage in cheap campaigning and petty politics is, after all, a very small one, and it will be just as small, if not a smaller, proportion of women who will follow along such lines; perhaps one hundredth of 1 percent."

"Influence Always for Good" "One of the biggest problems, at first, will be the mechanics of the thing. The polling and registering places are going to be jammed this year, because in most states, as here, only a few weeks are given to get the proper machinery in motion."

"After all, it is a great evolution, and we cannot hope to speculate correctly as to just what the results will be. It is all a gigantic question which time alone can settle. The only thing that is at all sure, unless all preconceived standards are reversed, is that the influence of women has always been for the betterment of everything they have gone into, and the times of such an influence cannot change."
